8. I have analyzed the facts of the case, relevant provisions of the Ordinance, and submissions made by the respondents. The aforesaid provisions of the law are clear and explicit. A company is required to publish notice of AGM in both English language and Urdu language separately ensuring a wider dissemination for the notice. It is for ease of understanding and enhancement thereof for such shareholder in particular and other stakeholders in general who are unfamiliar or less proficient in the English language. It is imperative that notice is communicated to every concerned individual since holding of the AGM is a very important statutory event and provides an opportunity to the shareholders, including those in minority, to participate in discussion and voting on agenda items of the AGM that include consideration and approval of companies' financial statements, which not only show the financial position and performance of a company but also show the results of management's stewardship of resources entrusted to it. A notice which is understandable to the average man can ensure the presence of all shareholders. In addition to their responsibilities of overseeing and managing affairs of the Company, directors also have fiduciary duties towards the Company and its shareholders. They are, therefore, liable to a higher level of accountability which requires them to be vigilant and perform their duties with care and prudence. It is directors' responsibility to oversee the functioning of the company and to ensure due compliance of law.

9. Publishing of AGM notice in Urdu and English is a requirement of law but unfortunately it has been noted that the directors of the Company have not observed the compulsory requirements of law. However, keeping in view of the submissions of the respondents and good past track record of company of complying with the laws; instead of imposing fine, I hereby, conclude the proceedings with a warning to the respondents to be careful and ensure compliance with mandatory provisions of the Ordinance, in true letter and spirit; in future.
